2006 National Civics and Citizenship Forum

The Australian Curriculum Studies Association (ACSA) has been commissioned by the Department of Education, Science and Training (DEST) to organise the 2006 National Civics and Citizenship Forum to be held in Canberra on Thursday 1 & Friday 2 June 2006 at the National Museum of Australia.

There are up to 40 fully funded places available for teachers who are active in civics and citizenship education in their school and interested pre-service teachers. Teachers from Government, Catholic and Independent schools and pre-service teacher education students are encouraged to apply. Only one applicant from a school will be successful in gaining a fully-funded place.

The forum will:

- Provide exemplars of good practice civics and citizenship education in Australian schools
- Highlight the resources being developed and
- Provide information about national assessment, Statements of Learning and human rights education.

The forum will be looking at global citizenship with a focus on Human Rights and Indigenous Rights

A funded position includes airfares to and from your nearest airport, accommodation and breakfast for one night at University House, Canberra, and forum registration and meeting costs. If you receive a fully-funded position you will be asked to conduct a professional development session in your school or region after you have attended the forum.
